To reach our collective potential, we must work together to build up Ottawa. That requires a council in which each member commits to city wide leadership. What is your intended approach to collaboration with council, city staff and economic partners?

Council needs to establish a strong, healthy, working relationship with one another from the start. The Mayor can not be the sole member establishing contacts, attending events and championing Ottawa's strengths and future potential, it requires the entire Council to do so.

Q5

What key characteristics and skills do you possess that make you a great leader and ambassador for the city of Ottawa, and the national capital region?

Born and raised in Ottawa. Love our City, its history and our future. I embrace change that makes us better, stronger, more diverse and more resilient.

I listen and ask questions, always wanting to learn from others, endorse best practices and showcase local good news stories. With an educated, skilled and bilingual workforce, excellent post-secondary institutions, we must continue to diversify our employment base, make tourism a serious focus in our City again and take Ottawa to the next level as North America's best middle sized city.

Q6

What are your top three priorities for Ottawa's future?

Infrastructure renewal

Reliable and affordable public transit

Climate Change Emergency and GHG reduction initiatives
