Q4

To reach our collective potential, we must work together to build up Ottawa. That requires a council in which each member commits to city wide leadership. What is your intended approach to collaboration with council, city staff and economic partners?

my approach as an author, an entrepreneur and retired financial consultant I bring broad vision and a collaborative leadership approach to listen and engage with solution thinking. Women are natural collaborative leaders and the more women on City Council the better to deepen our nurturing of our community. Coming together is a beginning then developing relationships that commit to common sense solutions is the result.

What key characteristics and skills do you possess that make you a great leader and ambassador for the city of Ottawa, and the national capital region?

As a single Mom raising teenagers and running a business I bring tenacity and a deep rooted blood sweat and tears approach to give back to the community that supported me. Innovative thinking with an entrepreneurial slant. I have done advocacy work since I was 16 yrs old and most recently with CARP Canadian Association of Retired People. Sensitivity and life experience that few can say they too have developed this awareness

What are your top three priorities for Ottawa's future?

Neighborhood Watch reinstated

Common Sense Fiscal responsibility for transportation, services, and maintenance requirements

Climate change that is logical and develop affordable housing to include all season greenhouses to feed the Public Housing and us an entrepreneurial model for excess to be sold to community stores
